

Science Btown Cafe

Wednesday August 10 Hurricanes and Climate Change

Dr. Chanh Kieu, associate professor at IU's Department of Earth and Atmospheric Sciences will discuss broadly how hurricanes and climate are related. He will also talk about a way by which hurricanes can be used to diagnose future climate changes, along with potential uncertainties and challenges of this approach.

Notes:

- 1) We're starting at 6pm
- 2) We're on the 2nd Wednesday this month
- 3) We're at Hopscotch on Morton & Dodds
- 4) We hope to have indoor and outdoor seating at Hopscotch's expanded Northern side
- 5) Masks indoors are optional but recommended
- 6) Hopscotch serves beer as well as tea/coffee but the kitchen will be closed

As always, Bloomington Science Cafe is free and open to anyone!